

Conference Report HamMUN by Adina

From the 3rd to the 6th December I was allowed to be part of the delegation from HanseMUN to HamMUN.

It was an amazing experience because of all the people I was able to meet and get to know. In my committee; the African Union; were people from all over the world for example Marocco, Israel, and France. I was honored to discuss with them the Human Right Situation in Western Sahara and also the problem of child soldiers.

Through the really great study guides and the need to prepare a position paper I was able to find out something about the position of my country ethiopia and also what they had done in the past to solve the conflict. Because of that I felt really well prepared and was able to give an introducing opening speech.

We had interesting and intense discussions and came to two great resolutions for both topics after the 4 days. For most of us it was the first conference to participate in, and we all learned a lot. Not only about the political conflicts but also about how to discuss and stay diplomatic in difficult situations and how to best write resolutions. We had a lot of fun and in the end we even had funny delegate awards which everyone was able to vote for.

At last everyone was pretty exhausted, not only from discussing all day but also from the great socials in the evenings and especially the delegates Ball on Saturday. Even though, I too, was really exhausted I loved to be part of such an amazing conference and get to know so many awesome people.

I am excited to participate in other MUN's because I feel there is so much more to learn and get to know.
